Grandma was always busy during the day, and didn't have time to play, so one morning, Noi crept away. He played on the beach for a while, when he spotted something shimmering across the sand.	3
As they sailed home, Noi and Grandma found more of the windswept birds. Once the storm passed, the birds all left, except for Noi's bird.	7
He discovered that it was a great big rock full of holes. He played in it for a while, pretending it was lots of exciting thing, but a storm was brewing outside.	4
One day in the summer, Noi travelled by boat to stay with his Grandma. It took quite a while to get there. Grandma lived by herself on a tiny rock.	1
However, the tide had come in and it was hard to get back across the rocks. Thankfully, Grandma sailed over to him and rescued them.	6
Noi wondered if Grandma was ever lonely. Noi, Grandma and her bird spent the rest of the summer, exploring every rock and shore.	8
Noi didn't know what to make of Grandma. They slept top to tail, and he couldn't sleep well because of the itchy blankets and Grandma's snoring.	2
Noi hid from the storm inside the big rocks, when a little bird tumbled out of the storm and into Noi's cave. Noi decided to try to find Grandma to see if she could help.	5
